Kansas Author Says England Land Of Paradoxes; Discusses New Racket

England is a land of paradoxes, an assertion aptly illustrated by the fact that the Pre-Raphaelites in mid-Victorian England preferred trim, svelte blondes at a time when the dark, buxom woman was supposedly John Bull's ideal of feminine perfection. Mrs. Norma Knight Jones told a meeting of the Sierra Madre Forum Tuesday night at the Woman's Clubhouse.

Discussing the British character, she described the average Englishman as unpredictable, difficult to understand and prone to follow a middle-of-the-road path. England, she asserted, is on her way back to prosperity, largely because of her "muddling-through" policy which eschews both conservative and radical extremes.

The lion and the unicorn—Britain's symbol—sums up her national character, she said.

Picturing the delights of a 4 o'clock English tea, Mrs. Jones said she tried to keep up the custom on her Kansas farm following her last trip to England. "This," she added, "was the greatest paradox of all."

Speaking of the "audible book review" movement, Mrs. Jones, who is a member of the League of American Penwomen and the Kansas Authors Club, stated that book clubs and radio reviews of books are largely sponsored by publishers to sell more books. She asserted audible book reviewing has become a highly profitable business, and that she made enough money from her first book review to buy a cow. She said she named the animal after the book, Marie Antoinette, by Stephen Zweig.

Outlining the need for an art center here which, she said, is demonstrated by attendance figures at the recent Glad Doherty show at the Old Adobe, Alfred James Dewey suggested local and out-of-town artists stage a painting spree during the Wistaria Fete and that the Chamber of Commerce and the Wistaria Association offer prizes for the best pictures. They should be picked by popular vote, he recommended, and then placed on exhibition.

He disclosed that Sierra Madre's poets are planning to write about the wistaria vine and perhaps put up prizes for the best poem.

Mrs. C. A. Allen, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce wistaria vine committee, urged listeners to attend the Forum dinner-meeting on March 16 when Charles A. Horwath of the Los Angeles All-Year Club will be guest speaker.

Pat West, Chamber of Commerce secretary, appealed to the gathering to support the city's publicity book.

E. D. Burbank issued a brief plea for an "adequate" library for Sierra Madre. He cited the city's high percentage of library patrons and said there are three reasons for it: there are more elderly people here, many people come here because of ill health and the city's average wealth is not high, which means residents turn to reading for relaxation rather than to more expensive pastimes.

Mrs. W. J. Lawless spoke briefly on the work of the Wistaria Association and appealed for donations of plants and flowers to aid in making Scenic Point a 100 per cent civic enterprise.

Among the guests introduced by Chairman Perley Poore Sheehan was W. H. Sawyer, who was a friend of Thomas A. Edison for 45 years and who saw President and Mrs. Abraham Lincoln. Others were Mr. and Mrs. Scanton and party of 14, Judge Edgar W. Camp, Leland J. Fogg, John C. Packard, Glad Derujinsky, Superior Court Judge Leslie Still, Victor Rachine and Mr. and Mrs. G. G. Meade of Arcadia.

A reception was held for Mrs. Jones following the meeting.

BURROS AND MULES STROLL AROUND AS REMINDER PACK TRAIN DAYS ARE STILL HERE

SALE of Mrs. Cora Corum's stables in Sturtevant trail hasn't banished the burro problem here, police records revealed Wednesday.

Apparently the burros haven't heard about the sale, because they're still acting up—and getting in the hair of irate citizens.

Bright and early Wednesday morning the police department's phone buzzed. It was a call from the Alta Vista Drive neighborhood, reporting three loose burros wandering around and nosing into places where burros have no right to be nosing.

Exactly an hour later Mrs. E.

Story Of City To Be Told In Pictures

New Chamber of Commerce Booklet Will Show Sierra Madre's Advantages

With photographs now being made, plans for a descriptive folder setting forth the advantages of Sierra Madre as the premier residential community of the Southland are taking active shape.

The folder, plans for which were outlined by the publicity committee of the Sierra Madre Chamber of Commerce, Monday evening, will go into production as soon as the photographs have been made.

The Chamber has telegraphed Louis Ziegler, well-known artist-photographer, to take the pictures, which will number approximately 25 in all.

Alfred James Dewey and Elmer W. Weese, commercial artist, will confer with Ziegler on the scenic and artistic values of the photographs to be included in the folder.

Describing Sierra Madre's attractions as a home place, the folder will stress the city's proximity to the metropolitan area, the beaches, the mountains and the desert.

It will represent Sierra Madre as being within an hour's drive of the beaches, an hour-and-a-half drive to the mountain playgrounds, with their numerous winter sports and summer resorts and scarcely two-hour's drive to the desert.

Coincidentally, the Wistaria Association will publish a special folder on the wistaria vine, to be distributed to visitors at this year's Fete and that will go into every sector of the nation. It will be illustrated and contain a complete history of the vine.

Completing final reorganization plans, the Chamber has appointed the following additional committee memberships:

Mushalik, 180 North Mountain Trail avenue, narrowly escaped death when she stumbled headlong into a raging torrent of gutter water which swept her to within inches of the open drain at the corner of Ker-sting Court and Baldwin avenue.

Hearing the child's screams, Thorn Mathis, proprietor of a service station at 54 North Baldwin avenue, sprinted across the street and grabbed the struggling youngster less than a foot from the mouth of the drain.

Mr. Russell also reports the sale of the Ward tract on Canyon Drive to W. T. Clement of Westwood. Mr. Clement will build in the near future.

The Harrap company published "Where Nothing Ever Happens" last year, and clippings from South Africa, Egypt, India, Australia and New Zealand show that the whole English speaking world is getting a chance to read about "Ourville."

Chamber To Oppose Change In Area Of Phone Service

Taking cognizance of reported attempts to annex the Santa Anita and Santa Anita Oaks tracts to the Arcadia telephone district, the board of directors of the Sierra Madre Chamber of Commerce adopted a resolution Monday night pledging the organization to vigorously oppose any change in status of the subdivision. It was agreed that, if necessary, the Chamber will place the matter before the State railroad commission.

The Arcadia Chamber of Commerce denied this week it was circulating petitions seeking to have home owners in the tract withdraw from the Sierra Madre telephone district.

It was explained the rumor probably originated in the fact that residents in the northwest section of Monrovia are seeking to join up with the Arcadia telephone district.

Any attempt to divorce Santa Anita Oaks from the Sierra Madre exchange would encounter stiff opposition from the state railroad commission, usually reliable sources declared. The commission's policy is to frown on attempts to reallocate districts, they pointed out.

Simultaneously, a representative of the Raymond A. Dorn Company, which is handling the Santa Anita Oaks and Rancho Santa Anita subdivisions, revealed that he had heard of no petition instigated by Arcadia merchants, but did state that a petition had been started by the residents themselves.

Discussing the question of hooking up Santa Anita Oaks with the Arcadia telephone district, Ambrose King, Arcadia Chamber of Commerce director, declared it was his opinion that attempts to annex the subdivision to the Arcadia zone would be fruitless.

Superb View Of Valley For Vine Visitors

Observation Platform At Scenic Point Planned By Wistaria Association

An observation platform is the latest addition to the many improvements now being made at Scenic Point, in preparation for what is confidently expected will be the most elaborate and beautiful Wistaria Fete in the city's history.

The platform comprises the floor of the old red barn on the west side of the property which has been torn down. A railing will be built around a new floor of the former barn on the very edge of Floral Canyon.

The view from the platform is unrivaled, taking in the entire sweep of the San Gabriel Valley, with San Pedro and Catalina in the distance. Trees on the canyon's rim are being trimmed to allow greater enjoyment of the magnificent scene.

The Wistaria Association yesterday was busy lining up the various special events which will be included on the programs of the forthcoming Fete.

All civic and fraternal organizations have submitted lists of district organizations to which the association will extend invitations.

On March 24 the Sierra Madre Woman's Club will hold its annual reciprocity luncheon under the vine.

A luncheon for approximately 175 delegates from the garden sections of the County Federation of Women's Clubs will be held in April. The date has not yet been set.

A letter to the Wistaria Committee from Don Thomas, managing director of the All-Year Club, indicates that Sierra Madre and its annual Fete are to be widely publicized in the club's Nation-wide advertising campaign. The letter addressed to Mrs. W. J. Lawless, follows:

"I was so glad to have your letter of February 6, for we have always been very much interested in Sierra Madre's charming Wistaria Fete.

"Undoubtedly you know that it is featured in our Official Tourist Guide Book, which reaches more than a million Southern California vacationists and prospective vacationists each year.

"The Wistaria Fete is also featured in stories which we release to metropolitan newspapers, National magazines and other publications throughout the country—including even shipboard publications distributed aboard passenger liners bound for California.

"We will appreciate hearing from you as soon as possible, the actual dates of the Fete, so that our information girls may be fully informed when talking about the event to tourists who come to our office seeking additional sightseeing data.

"I am also asking Miss Dotson of our Public Relations Department to contact the various radio stations, thought that mention of the Wistaria Fete may be worked into one of our radio programs."

CARELESSNESS IN THE HOME CAUSE OF 60 PERCENT OF FRIGHTFUL FIRE LOSSES KIWANIS CLUB TOLD

More than half a billion dollars and approximately 10,000 lives are sacrificed annually in the United States because of fires, Capt. O. J. Emery, director of public relations of the Los Angeles Fire Department, told Kiwanians at their annual weekly luncheon meeting Tuesday.

According to records more than 80 per cent of fires are preventable, while over 60 per cent occur in homes, the guest speaker declared.

Capt. Emery described the value of fire prevention education work in Los Angeles public schools, and advised all communities to take up this work as an effective means of reducing the number of fires.

The following memorial of appreciation to Mrs. W. J. Lawless for her public spirit efforts in making the Wistaria Fete a permanent feature for Sierra Madre was read and approved:

"The Sierra Madre Kiwanis Club has learned with great satisfaction of the purchase of the Fennel estate containing the famous wistaria vine by Mrs. W. J.

Proposal Branded As Sure Step Towards Autocratic Control Of Judiciary

OVER 100 JOIN CALL

More than a hundred well known Sierra Madrens had signed a call last night for a Town Meeting to be held in the city hall at 7:45 Monday evening to protest against the proposal to increase membership of the United States Supreme court and make the nation's highest tribunal subservient to the executive arm of the government.

The date selected is Washington's birthday, last day of the ten day period beginning with Lincoln's birthday set aside as "National Defense Week" and observed throughout the land by patriotic societies, schools, the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars and other veterans organizations. While the meeting here is in session Constitutional societies in many cities will hold mass meetings to plan preservation of the Constitution.

Everyone in sympathy with the movement to preserve the Supreme court as an independent branch of the government as intended by the Constitution has been invited to attend the town meeting, the call for which announces that the signers believe "that the bill before Congress to alter the number of judges of the Supreme court has been proposed hastily, that its provisions threaten the present constitutional form of our government and is a definite step in the direction of autocratic control of our courts."

Citizens will be invited to tell why they are opposed to the proposition and it is planned to adopt resolutions of protest to be forwarded to the President, California's two senators and Congressman John Steven McGroarty. A feature of the meeting is to be the reading of Senator William Borah's speech on the Constitution delivered on February 1, four days before the proposal to tinker with the Supreme court was made. The speech attracted universal comment, many men of letters pronouncing it a classic and after the manner of Lincoln's immortal Gettysburg speech.

Up to noon yesterday more than 50 citizens had signed the call for Monday's Town Meeting and as THE NEWS was about to go to press it was announced the number had increased to more than a hundred. Many signers were Democrats who had been in sympathy with most of the new deal proposals. The formal call with the original signers will be found on page 6 of this issue of THE NEWS.

Mrs. C. W. Bowen, chairman, yesterday expressed the chapter's appreciation of the generous, prompt and willing contributions which already have exceeded the city's quota by close to $450.

Following is the list of additional contributors up to Wednesday noon:

DESTRUCTION

Edward F. McGrady, assistant secretary of Labor, who was credited with much responsibility for settlement of the General Motors strikes and who came to the coast in futile efforts to wind up the murderous warfare and frightful economic loss incident to the maritime strike that crippled west coast transportation and business, has something to say that should make every American think.

The 42-day strike in the General Motors plants, where the State and Federal governments tolerated unheard of violation of law and decency, cost at least $2,000,000, McGrady said, while the maritime strike out here cost at least $700,000,000.

What to do about it? Who suffers from this intolerable condition that affects every one of us—but you?

But Mr. McGrady does not have the remedy THE NEWS believes can be worked out by a government that feels itself strong enough to pack the Supreme Court and upset the balance of government between the executive, legislative and judicial functions, provided by our constitution.

"We have not yet developed an effective method for settling such controversies" (as the maritime and automobile strike) McGrady said.

But there must be—is a way. These strikes have cost the nation more than the destruction wrought by the great floods in the Ohio and Mississippi valleys for which the government and the Red Cross are appropriating untold millions for relief and which will cost the government many more millions later.

These strikes have bred other strikes, for which there was no occasion. And there will be more so long as the relations between employer and employee are made a plaything by politicians and labor racketeers.

Our constitution provides the way. It guarantees that rights and liberties of every citizen under the grandest flag that flies.

Instead of trying to pack the Supreme Court, upset the balance of a government that has made this the greatest Nation in the world and place dictatorial power in the hands of a political party run mad with power, why not give the menace of the strike situation a little governmental thought—the prevention of strikes on a basis just alike to every interest where disputes arise, with a guarantee that questions at issue shall be adjusted without fear or favor—impartially—and with the government standing behind to see that justice is done when the merits of a labor dispute have been passed upon.

But if it is possible to rip out the Supreme Court, the balance wheel of government—what is the use? Then the suggested tribunal would afford only a few more jobs for political followers. There would be no guarantee of justice to anyone.

The... Watch Tower

By Perley Poore Sheehan

AND now the season for a sort of cleaning up and a replanting in the garden of our souls. Lent. A name which comes from the Anglo-Saxon word for Spring. And while that older word, lenten, was, as you might say, still in process of conversion by the Church, there were, no doubt, likewise still plenty of unconverted old folks about who could have told you a weird tale or two about the Druids. How, for example, those Druid Spring-festivals, precursors of this new-fangled Lent, had been — "something else again."

FROM which we got to thinking of those so-called "deathless" chicken cells at the Rockefeller Institute in New York—tissue which keeps on living although sliced from a mother chick now dead this quarter of a century. A long step—and there have been others—toward showing how life even here in Sierra Madre weaves back into that of the Druids—and beyond. Because, it seems, we've all got these "deathless" cells in our bodies. "Life cells," "fire-cells," originally lit by the very first spark of vital fire at the dawn of life. So that all of us have, actually, life-lines in contact with everything that ever did live or does live today. And they with us.

RECALLING, somehow, what Laertes said at the burial of Ophelia. Remember?—"Lay her i' the earth; and from her fair and unpolluted flesh may violets spring!" Shakespeare must have known. Speaking of one drowned "Nothing of him that doth fade but doth suffer a sea-change into something rich and strange." Then, Ariel imprisoned in a pine; Caliban's jail a solid rock; the elves of hills and groves; "and ye that on the sands with printless foot do chase the ebbing Neptune"—these were in Shakespeare, and he in them. So with all the characters he called up—all men, knowing other men better than they knew themselves, as the late Arthur Brisbane said.

SO with each of us. Perhaps. If we only knew. Linked as we are with the life of the cosmos. Even though by a single cell. Yet a cell so vast—except in a purely spatial sense—that it may carry the world and all creation as its normal cargo. "There is no great and no small," so wrote Emerson, "to the Soul that maketh all, and where it cometh, all things are; and it cometh everywhere."

I am owner of the sphere,
Of the seven stars and the solar year,
Of Caesar's hand, and Plato's brain,
Of Lord Christ's heart and Shakespeare's strain.

LENT. Forty days. Set aside long, long ago for a bit of discipline. Or shall we rather say, a keener, higher discipleship? With spring coming on. And a residue of the Druid in the best of us. Incidentally, those old Druid Spring festivals, were terrible—big wicker cages crowded with human and other sacrificial victims to be burned alive; with concurrent rites which were better forgotten. It wouldn't have hurt those old-timers to have forgotten them either—back there when the first Irish missionaries were turning lenten into lent. Yes, Lent is better—and that is something, perhaps, that some of us modern Druids had better remember.

YET Life—not Time, really!—marches on. A purification in the long run, curative, creative. Even when—or because—so closely knit to the phenomena of pain and death. Until we reflect that, after all, dinosaurs were but a transitional stage of future and most necessary phosphate; and Druids—the word meant "wise ones"—were but by way of becoming our own present gardeners, tree-lovers, poets, or just folks who are neighborly and kind. With a horror of all living sacrifices. Except, perhaps, of themselves.

FOR the older we grow it seems to us that life itself is a living sacrifice—that is, a sort of incessant religion. Or that religion may be, so to speak, the essence of life—like the nucleus of one of those deathless cells we've been talking about. The germs of immortality. And also the epitomes—of all that man has ever known of Truth, and Beauty, and Love. These live on as native to the world within ourselves as the cedars and sycamores are to our Sierra Madre mountains; and as quick to make Sierra Madre seem a good place to live in for all who pass this way.

Gaddin' Around with BILL PEET

SIERRA Madre was well represented in Pasadena Wednesday night when Ellsworth Vines and Fred Perry put on a sizzling indoor exhibition of tennis. Vines is a Pasadena native son and Perry one of the greatest British players ever developed.

Vines and Perry have deserted the simon pures and are now professionals, playing the game for all the money they can make out of it. The Pasadena has been criticized for leaving Uncle Sam's Davis cup team in the lurch at the height of his career, but criticized only by those who selfishly want to see United States regain prestige in international court circles.

Ellsworth Vines when he turned pro tossed his cards on the table. He admitted that the time had come when he planned to get married and that meant he must go to work. Who should he refuse lucrative offers to play professional tennis, the one sport where he excelled and could do better than anything else? If Vines was wealthy or had unlimited financial backing he never would have joined the barnstorming professional troupe headed by Bill Tilden. He had neither, and no fair minded sportsman has blamed him for turning pro.

As long as the cash customers turn out to see Vines play professional tennis he would be a "sucker" not to carry on. More power to him.

Here's hoping he makes a lot of money and after accumulating his pile has sense enough to invest it where it will do him the most good.

Our neighboring city Arcadia, said it with flags last Friday, Lincoln's birthday, and the two business districts were all dolled up.

For the first time placements were set on the widened sectors of Huntington Drive between Santa Anita and Second avenues, and American flags set at about 12 foot intervals. The city looked very attractive and patriotic.

My good friend Becker, who owns and operates Becker's dress Shop, remarked, "I don't believe that all of us Americans appreciate the stars and stripes—and what it stands for, its the most beautiful flag in the world."

I shall never forget the day I arrived on a British steamer in Honolulu some years ago, sailing from Vancouver. As I peeked out of my cabin port hole, my eye caught a sturdy little launch carrying immigration officials, and at the mast head of the launch, the old Glory whipped by the wind, as we steamed into the harbor, and warped up against the dock American flags were very much in evidence and a lump came in my throat as I realized that I was once more on American soil.

That unprecedented cold spell which did so much damage, took its toll at the Santa Anita race track and the frost all but ruined the infield flowers, only those in front of the 'tote' board, protected by field furnaces, survived.

Race track officials are already making plans to replant and when the 1937-38 meeting opens the same wonderful flower show will be unfolded. The officials are overlooking no bets and are determined that Santa Anita will continue to rank as the world's No. 1 race track.

TOWN PICKUPS

Kite time is almost here and the kids are warned not to fly kites near electric wires. Fred Krinke's Pasadena bowling team is not hittin' the high spots these days. They tell us that a room with softly tinted walls is best for people with hangovers. So up speaks "Shorty Steinberger and inquires 'what's a hangover?' Our good friend Hull of the hardware company spent his early life in Detroit. He wouldn't know the old town now. I am told that the best three cushion billiard player in Sierra Madre is "Big Boy" Fox, who trims the boys and girls at Langley's barber shop and who has scraped the chins of many of our leading citizens. One of the most popular riders at Santa Anita today is Jockey Webster, who makes his home here during the race meets. Try and get him to give you a tip. "Old Man Flu" reached out and grabbed George Cox last week. Harold Roberts tried his hand at "skeet" shootin' over the week end. He did not reveal his score. Here's one for the book. You can laugh it off if you want to, but listen—The girls at Arizona State Teachers College, in enumerating the qualifications for a husband, placed the passionate lovers at the bottom of the list. They must be a cold-blooded lot.

ADIOS—Tune in next week for station PEET

DRAMA GUILD GROUP ELECTS OFFICERS

Election of officers for the Shirley Temple group of the Drama Guild resulted as follows: president, Margarette Adwell, first vice-president, Helen Askew; secretary, Mary Lou Lovejoy; program chairman, Pegla Rosen; advisors, Wilma Smith, Doris Pickett and Betty Jean Askew. Tomorrow there will be a "surprise meeting."

According to the U. S. Census the average boy baby born in California can expect to live to the age of 54.51 years and a girl baby, 58.44 years.

Directors of San Francisco's Golden Gate Expo are pondering an application from an ambitious Bay City showman who wants a concession calling for a huge glass tank with a rock grotto in which nude mermaids—"gorgeous creatures," his application says—would swim about in submarine lights with a seaweed background.

What a time England is having over the coming coronation of their new king! What fuss and feathers! For months, apparently the populace has been thinking of little else, officials have been buzzing busily about over this or that technicality, etc., etc. And the ultra-momentous occasion is still almost three months away! Americans find it a little difficult to credit such goings on, all for the purpose of installing a mere puppet who has nothing to say about anything anyway. We could inaugurate a dozen presidents with half the effort.

Roy Wenzlick, noted analyst of trends in real estate values, is the author of a publication called "The Coming Boom in Real Estate—and What to Do About It."

The chief reasons for the inevitable boom are the accelerated marriage rate, the dispersment of families that doubled up during the depression, the shortage of houses and building, rising rents, and the prospect of substantial speculative profits. Eventually, of course, sometime in the 1940's, the thing will be carried to fantastic heights and people will buy merely for a quick turn and then we'll have a sudden deflation, with the suckers owning something that may never in their lives be worth what they paid for it.

More than 700 school supervisors from every section of California met in San Francisco this month and heard a lot about new-fangled teaching methods. But the keynote address, in outlining how our schools may make better men of citizens of tomorrow, dealt with no ultra-modern ideas. It called for a return to fundamentals. "Unless we build ideals of honesty, love and respect for truth," said the keynote speaker, "and unless there is a sense of responsibility and respect for law, no system of justice can effectually operate." Were these ideals more deeply rooted today, a good part of our troubles would vanish.

Experts Urge Care In Treatment Of Frostbitten Trees

The University of California and Los Angeles County Farm Bureau, will hold a series of meetings throughout Los Angeles county early in March to discuss with growers of citrus and avocados the handling of orchards which have received cold injury according to E. C. Moore, Assistant Farm Advisor. These meetings will be open to the public and all citrus and avocado orchardists are urged to attend.

A schedule of these meetings is being prepared. Meanwhile Moore advises to refrain from pruning very soon. Past experiences have proved that early pruning of frost-injured trees serves only to add to the injury that has already occurred, he urges.

FINE TRAVEL AND ADVENTURE BOOKS AND NEW SHIPPEY NOVEL AT THE LIBRARY

Readers of travel and adventure books will find several such items among the new volumes at the public library.

"Southern Gates of Arabia," by Freya Stark, is a well-informed fascinating account of far-famed Arabian "incense routes" of remote antiquity. For his interpretation of a great figure of the past in terms of the present, H. V. Morton, author of "In the Steps of Saint Paul," has taken extensive trips through Asia Minor, and retraces the Apostle's actual steps during his four separate missionary journeys.

Van Wyck Brooks' "The Flowering of New England," an account of 50 years in New England's literary history, presented with insight, precision and grace by a distinguished American critic, will appeal to readers seeking essays and criticism. For garden lovers, there is Hines' "Arrangement of Flowers." Political and historical volumes include Weedward's "A New American History" and Henry Wallace's apologetic, "Whose Constitution?" Lee Shippey's "The Girl Who Wanted Experience" heads the fiction list, which includes P. G. Wodehouse's "Laughing Gas," an hilarious fantasy involving the movie-coast, a hard-boiled infant wonder and other Wodehouse inventions.

Other new novels are "Rose Deeprose," Kaye-Smith; "Cities of Refuge," Gibbs; "Sound of Running Feet," Lawrence; and "Street of the Fishing Cat," Folds.

Additional titles on the non-fiction list are "Skyway to Asia," Grooch; "Civil Service Handbook,"

Value Of Tourist Trade Chamber Of Commerce Topic

Outlining the aims and accomplishments of his organization Charles A. Horworth, director of public relations of the All-Year Club of Southern California, conferred with the new board of directors of the Sierra Madre Chamber of Commerce Monday evening.

He stressed the importance of practical cooperation between the Chamber of Commerce of a city such as Sierra Madre—which has a definite attraction for tourists—and the All-Year Club.

One out of every ten visitors to Southern California, he declared eventually becomes a permanent resident.

His remarks were the incentive for a spirited discussion regarding the value of tourist business, and it seemed to be the opinion of most of those present that any publicity tie-up which could be made with the All-Year Club would be a big step toward the advancement of Sierra Madre.

Only High Mountain Areas Exceed Rainfall Here

Save for Bear Valley and Mill Creek, in the San Bernardino mountains, Sierra Madre has had more rain this season of "unusual" weather than any other Southland community.

This startling fact was rung up by rainfall gauges here following the weekend's storm which brought a total of 3.79 inches of rain, although causing little damage.

Rainfall here since last July 1 now totals 27.51 inches, compared to 12.11 inches at this time last year.

Sending a near-capacity load cascading into the city's spreading grounds from Little Santa Anita Canyon, the storm provided inestimable future benefits by replenishing water storage in underground reservoirs.

The rain washed a large hole in the street at 748 Brookside Lane, caused a bad wash on Grand View avenue east of the bridge and undermined a rock wall at 774 Woodland Drive.

Brooks; "Excuse It, Please," Skinner; "Lancer at Large," Yeats-Brown, and "The Human Comedy," Robinson.

The library circulated 3672 adult and 606 juvenile books during January. Fifty-seven per cent of books circulated were adult fiction, 27 per cent adult non-fiction and 15 per cent juvenile. There were 42 registrations for borrowers privileges during the month.

Brotherhood Week To Be Celebrated In Sierra Madre

Brotherhood Week, February 20-28, is to be observed throughout the nation by emphasizing the common front of all religious groups against the encroachment of any and all governments on the religious and personal liberties of citizens, it was announced yesterday.

Looking towards Brotherhood Week, a declaration that civil liberties and religious rights are today being assailed has been signed by thousands of Protestant, Roman Catholic and Jewish clergy, it is stated.

At the First Congregational Church here on February 25 a student from one of the colleges of this area will speak on the University Religious Conference activities in colleges of the Southland.

Big Arcadia Project Vetted By The WPA In Washington

Public works Administration has turned thumbs down on two Southern California projects involving more than $10,250,000.

A farm development plan, for which Riverside county has asked government funds totaling $10,000,000, was set aside by PWA officials.

A $270,000 grant for the construction of a disposal plant at Arcadia also was placed on the disapproved list.

Start Work On New Street Connecting Lima And Carter

Construction of Lima street extension linking West Carter avenue and North Lima street got under way this week.

The job will be a joint city-WPA project.

When completed, the street will afford direct access to Scenic Point for motorists entering Sierra Madre from the west.

Skeet Shooting Too Hot For Local Men But Blondes OK

Skeet shooting is the newest pastime of Fred Lalone, Sierra Madre's No. 1 big game hunter. Lalone and Pat West spent Sunday indulging in a little plain and fancy "bird" busting at the Los Angeles-Santa Monica Gun Club.

The boys stepped up and banged off two out of eight and two out of twelve, respectively, and thought they were doing all right—until Harry Fleischman, world's champion skeet shooter, walked over and smacked a cool 25 (count em) in a row!

Lalone and West were so charmed Fleischman had to give them membership cards in the club then and there.

Asked what he thought about skeet shooting, Lalone said: "Brother—those movie blondes are de-lovely!"

Development Of Angelus Forest Object Of Survey

A "recreational inventory" of every square foot of the Angeles National Forest is now in progress, United States Forestry Service officials informed the NEWS yesterday.

Aim of the survey is to class-

fy all flat and semi-flat areas which may be suitable for camp grounds, cabin sites, and the like. When completed, the survey will provide valuable data for mapping a program of long-term development of the entire Angeles Forest.

All camps in the adjacent mountain area fall within the scope of the survey.

Local Girls Made Mapha Members

Eleven new Mapha members were initiated into the society at a St. Valentine's party given at the home of Miss Mariann Daily, 105 East Sierra Madre Blvd., Saturday afternoon. Miss Eleanor Phillips, president of the club, presided at the meeting and initiation. Following the ceremony and social afternoon, a lovely buffet luncheon in Valentine motif was served by Miss Daily.

Those receiving Mapha pins were Bernita Sandoe, Muriel Cowan, Dorothy Greene, and Marian Healy of Pasadena; Catherine Johnson of South Pasadena; Betty Hiltz of Monrovia; Dorothy Walsworth, Genelle Paschall, Doris Gilbert, Treva S. Tarr, and Alice LaLone of Sierra Madre.

Next meeting will be held in Monrovia, Saturday afternoon, March 6, with Mrs. Eleanor Harper and Marian Friske as hostesses.

KIDS ON THE STREETS AFTER 9 SUBJECT TO ARREST UNDER AN OLD CURFEW LAW

DON'T go out after 9 p.m. if you're under 16—unless your folks are with you. Because if you're out alone or with a friend who's no older than you are, you're breaking the law. You don't believe it? Read this then:

"Ordinance No. 71—An ordinance of the board of trustees of the city of Sierra Madre prohibiting minors under the age of 16 years from being upon any public street, lane, alley, sidewalk, or place in said city of Sierra Madre after the hour of 9 o'clock p.m., unless accompanied by the adult persons having charge of said minors."

The ordinance was passed back in 1908—and it's still on the books.

If the authorities catch you violating it, they're at perfect liberty to fine you as much as $50 or lock you up in city jail for as long as 25 days. If they really want to, they can fine you and lock you up too. Police still thumb over the ordinance occasionally especially around Halloween. It's been used more than once to clamp down on youthful celebrators whose doorbell ringing and horseplay showed signs of getting out of hand. While nobody has ever been fined $50 or thrown in the hoosegow for 25 days for violating it, it's still a sort of fifth ace up the sleeves of police. They can give you the "works" if they want to.

Fire Flames

By One of the Boys

IT seems that when the firemen's meeting takes on an atmosphere of strife, there is always bound to be some visitors, so we want to assure the good folks who attended our meeting last Friday that the boys have yet to come to blows. There is generally plenty of blowing, but no hits.

One of the visitors was M. D. Welscher, who at one time was one of the city's volunteer firemen. If Mr. Welscher ever comes back to a meeting it will be because he was not scared out. With Mr. Welscher came Ed Barlowe of New York. Barlowe was champion billiard player of New York and has played such fellows as Willie Hoppe and others of this class. During his visit to the firemen's room, Mr. Barlowe gave the boys a fine exhibition of fancy and trick billiard pool playing.

As fortunate as we have been in not having a serious fire this winter, the Chief is very much concerned about the condition of the many chimneys and fireplaces in the city. He urges that folks have their chimneys and fireplaces inspected by some one who can and will take care of a bad situation. "An ounce of prevention etc etc."

Cigars were passed around by Vern Udell, who became the father of a big son and who Vern claims will be another fireman some years from now.

The "feed" was served by Harry Lange who "did himself proud" although we know all Harry did was to bring it down to the station. His women folks deserve and get the credit for preparation of the food, which was enjoyed by all.

Kite Fliers Warned Not To Tangle Up With Street Wires

The Southern California Edison Company this week gave its annual public warning to kite fliers. It lists three pertinent don'ts which should be remembered by adults and children as follows:

Do not fly kites near electric wires.

Never use wire or tinsel cord, or cord that has become damp from rain or fog.

If cord is caught in an electric line... let go! Don't try to pull it down. Call the power company to remove it and get your kite back for you.

Big Lake Behind Eaton Dam As It Goes To The County

A big lake behind Eaton Dam, the result of the weekend storm, provided an apropos note Monday when the structure was formally turned over to county flood control district engineers. Supervisor Legg, C. H. Howell, county flood control engineer; Major Theodore Wyman Jr., district engineer of the U. S. Army, and officials of near-by communities were among those taking part in the exercises.

Built for the three-fold purpose of controlling floods, retaining debris and permitting conservation of flood waters, the dam was completed February 2.

Eventually a roadway will be built across the top of the dam, providing a more direct link between Sierra Madre and Altadena.

Announcement

By Tom W. Neale

Effective February 11, I have bought and assumed control of the real estate and insurance business heretofore conducted by Mrs. C. A. Allen at 18 West Sierra Madre Blvd., adding to my strong list of insurance agencies the biggest and most reliable of the great companies until now represented in this community by Mrs. Allen.

I have assumed personal charge of and will devote my entire time and attention to the insurance feature of the consolidated business, so that my clients—new and old—will have the benefit of my long experience in writing all kinds of insurance. It will be a major feature of the business—not a sideline.

I have appointed Mr. Joe T. Russell to take charge of the real estate and rental departments and he will specialize in this particular line, giving our clients the benefit of his knowledge of local real estate values. He will be glad to list your property and has many inquiries for homes here.

Better let me inquire into your insurance coverage and needs and advise you... No obligation on your part.

Wanderlust
Seizes Two
Local Boys

Maybe it was the call of the wild—and maybe it was just the normal springtime urge to run away and see the world.

At any rate, two 15-year-old boys Tuesday night decided to cast off parental apron strings. The co-conspirators were Jack Welch, 255 East Highland avenue, and Francis Sexton, 249 Ramona avenue.

When their respective mothers, Mrs. Hazel Lalone and Mrs. Bessie Hibbs, awoke Wednesday morning, they found the two youthful adventurers had flown the coop.

Mrs. Lalone's Jack had gone off with his sleeping bag, his cooking utensils he used for camping and $4. Mrs. Hibbs' Francis had likewise taken his sleeping bag as well as his rifle and $14.

The worried mothers reported to police that the boys had recently talked of going to Idaho. The mystery was 50 per cent cleared up Wednesday evening, however, when Jack returned home. He told his mother he left Francis in the west fork of the San Gabriel Canyon.

Jack's return took a big load off Mrs. Lalone's mind, but Mrs. Hibbs is still humming that age-old refrain, "Where is my wandering boy tonight?"

Mother Of Lee
Shippey Dies
At Del Mar

Mrs. Elizabeth Kerr Shippey, 85 years old, who had lived in Sierra Madre five years, died early yesterday morning at her home in Del Mar. Her daughters, Mrs. Virginia S. Davis and Miss Louisa Shippey; her son, Lee Shippey, and her grandson, Henry were with her when she died. Another son, C. S. Shippey of Neodesha, Kas., also survives. She had been lingering toward death ever since the latter part of last April, when she fell and broke her hip.

Mrs. Shippey was born in St. Louis but spent her early girlhood in Memphis, where her father, J. H. Freleigh, was one of the owners of a steamboat line. The family also owned a mill in New Orleans and a farm in Mississippi, and held the close friendship of Jefferson Davis. The war between the states resulted in the loss of all property, and the Freleigh family went to Brazil to escape the reconstruction period. There she met Capt. William Francis Shippey, who had been on the staff of Gen. J. E. B. Stuart.

Mrs. Shippey was the mother of six children, two of whom died young. All of her children were born before the doctor arrived, as she was living in isolated neighborhoods most of the time. Although she was small and looked frail, she was buoyant of spirit and apparently tireless, and much loved in every community in which she lived.

The funeral will be from the Church of the Ascension at 1:30 tomorrow afternoon. Dean Arnold Bode was her pastor in Long Beach before she and her daughters lived in Sierra Madre. Arrangements are in charge of Grant's Chapel.

Announcement

By Tom W. Neale

Effective February 11, I have bought and assumed control of the real estate and insurance business heretofore conducted by Mrs. C. A. Allen at 18 West Sierra Madre Blvd., adding to my strong list of insurance agencies the biggest and most reliable of the great companies until now represented in this community by Mrs. Allen.

I have assumed personal charge of and will devote my entire time and attention to the insurance feature of the consolidated business, so that my clients—new and old—will have the benefit of my long experience in writing all kinds of insurance. It will be a major feature of the business—not a sideline.

I have appointed Mr. Joe T. Russell to take charge of the real estate and rental departments and he will specialize in this particular line, giving our clients the benefit of his knowledge of local real estate values. He will be glad to list your property and has many inquiries for homes here.

Better let me inquire into your insurance coverage and needs and advise you . . . No obligation on your part.

According to the U. S. Census the average boy baby born in California can expect to live to the age of 54.51 years and a girl baby, 58.44 years.

Directors of San Francisco's Golden Gate Expo are pondering an application from an ambitious Bay City showman who wants a concession calling for a huge glass tank with a rock grotto in which nude mermaids—"gorgeous creatures," his application says—would swim about in submarine lights with a seaweed background.

What a time England is naving over the coming coronation of their new king! What fuss and feathers! For months, apparently the populace has been thinking of little else, officials have been buzzing busily about over this or that technicality, etc., etc. And the ultra-momentous occasion is still almost three months away! Americans find it a little difficult to credit such goings on, all for the purpose of installing a mere puppet who has nothing to say about anything anyway. We could inaugurate a dozen presidents with half the effort.

Roy Wenzlick, noted analyst of trends in real estate values, is the author of a publication called "The Coming Boom in Real Estate—And What to Do About It."

The chief reasons for the "inevitable boom are the accelerated marriage rate, the displacement of families that doubled up during the depression, the shortage of houses and building, rising rents, and the prospect of substantial speculative profits.

Eventually, of course, sometime in the 1940's, the thing will be carried to fantastic heights and people will buy merely for a quick turn, and then we'll have a sudden deflation, with the suckers owning something that may never in their lives be worth what they paid for it.

More than 700 school supervisors from every section of California met in San Francisco this month and heard a lot about new-fangled teaching methods. But the keynote address, in outlining how our schools may make better men of citizens of tomorrow, dealt with no ultra-modern ideas. It called for a return to fundamentals. "Unless we build ideals of honesty, love and respect for truth," said the keynote speaker, "and unless there is a sense of responsibility and respect for law, no system of justice can effectually operate." Were these ideals more deeply rooted today, a good part of our troubles would vanish.

'Stewardship' Theme At Meeting Of Woman's Society

"Stewardship" was the topic of the Missionary program presented by Dr. and Mrs. E. D. Gaylord at the Woman's Missionary luncheon and meeting of the Congregational church Tuesday at which eighty members and friends were present. Dr. Gaylord is the superintendent of the Southern California Conference and Mrs. Gaylord a board member of the Federation of the Congregational Women for Southern California. Mrs. A. F. Snell led the devotion with Miss Elizabeth Morgridge furnishing the devotional music. The program was in charge of Mrs. Anna Bacon, missionary program chairman.

Spring flowers decorated the room and luncheon tables. Mrs. J. C. Heasley and her committee had charge of the luncheon.

A.L.A. Activities

The presidents' conference held in Claremont Monday evening served as an instructive and entertaining school for Legion Auxiliary National Defense chairman. Major Charles P. Stivers of Claremont College gave an address that held his audience spellbound. Those attending from here included Mesdames C. N. Barker, M. M. Barlow and G. R. Lovejoy.

Past Presidents are invited to a pot-luck luncheon March 12 in LaVerne, according to Pearl DeLapp, chairman.

Chairman Sylvia Quittner gave an interesting sketch on Fidae at the last meeting.

Norma Hogan spoke to the unit concerning the new community service project, enlarging the activities of the Drama Guild. Under this program we shall help them to the best of our ability.

Wanderlust
Seizes Two
Local Boys

Maybe it was the call of the wild—and maybe it was just the normal springtime urge to run away and see the world.

At any rate, two 15-year-old boys Tuesday night decided to cast off parental apron strings. The co-conspirators were Jack Welch, 255 East Highland avenue, and Francis Sexton, 249 Ramona avenue.

When their respective mothers, Mrs. Hazel Lalone and Mrs. Bessie Hibbs, awoke Wednesday morning, they found the two youthful adventurers had flown the coop.

Mrs. Lalone's Jack had gone off with his sleeping bag, his cooking utensils he used for camping and $4. Mrs. Hibbs' Francis had likewise taken his sleeping bag as well as his rifle and $14.

The worried mothers reported to police that the boys had recently talked of going to Idaho. The mystery was 50 per cent cleared up Wednesday evening, however, when Jack returned home. He told his mother he left Francis in the west fork of the San Gabriel Canyon.

Jack's return took a big load off Mrs. Lalone's mind, but Mrs. Hibbs is still humming that age-old refrain, "Where is my wandering boy tonight?"

Mother Of Lee
Shippey Dies
At Del Mar

Mrs. Elizabeth Kerr Shippey, 85 years old, who had lived in Sierra Madre five years, died early yesterday morning at her home in Del Mar. Her daughters, Mrs. Virginia S. Davis and Miss Louisa Shippey; her son, Lee Shippey, and her grandson, Henry were with her when she died. Another son, C. S. Shippey of Neodesha, Kas., also survives. She had been lingering toward death ever since the latter part of last April, when she fell and broke her hip.

Mrs. Shippey was born in St. Louis but spent her early girlhood in Memphis, where her father, J. H. Freleigh, was one of the owners of a steamboat line. The family also owned a mill in New Orleans and a farm in Mississippi, and held the close friendship of Jefferson Davis. The war between the states resulted in the loss of all property, and the Freleigh family went to Brazil to escape the reconstruction period. There she met Capt. William Francis Shippey, who had been on the staff of Gen. J. E. B. Stuart.

Mrs. Shippey was the mother of six children, two of whom died young. All of her children were born before the doctor arrived, as she was living in isolated neighborhoods most of the time. Although she was small and looked frail, she was buoyant of spirit and apparently tireless, and much loved in every community in which she lived.

The funeral will be from the Church of the Ascension at 1:30 tomorrow afternoon. Dean Arnold Bode was her pastor in Long Beach before she and her daughters lived in Sierra Madre.

Arrangements are in charge of Grant's Chapel.
